

025.84
D 939

20 DIC 2011

Preparing collections for digitization

Anna E. Bülow and Jess Ahmon

with contributions from Ross Spencer

133910

facet publishing

In association with the National Archives

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
List of figures and tables	xi
Introduction	xv
1 Digitization in the context of collection management	1
Introduction.....	1
The impact of new technologies.....	1
Collection management.....	4
Access to content and context.....	6
Planning and processing with minimal risk.....	8
The four phases of digitization.....	10
Fitting digitization into collection management.....	13
Chapter summary.....	14
Bibliography.....	15
2 Before you digitize: resources, suppliers and surrogates	17
Introduction.....	17
Impact on the institution.....	17
Choosing to outsource.....	21
The role of microfilm.....	26
Chapter summary.....	29
Bibliography.....	29
3 The digital image Ross Spencer	33
Introduction.....	33
Basic concepts.....	34
Post-processing.....	39

Image specification	42
Setting a standard	44
Chapter summary	45
Bibliography	45
4 The process of selection.....	47
Introduction	47
A strategy for digitization	47
The principles and process of selection	49
Prioritization	57
Special collections.....	58
Chapter summary	59
Bibliography	60
5 Surveying collections	63
Introduction.....	63
Why do a survey?.....	63
Conducting a survey	64
Analysing data and making recommendations	88
Chapter summary	89
Bibliography	89
6 Equipment for image capture	91
Introduction.....	91
Risks during imaging	91
Features to consider.....	94
Types of equipment	97
Selecting and testing	104
Chapter summary	105
Bibliography	106
7 Preparation of document formats and fastenings	109
Introduction.....	109
Preparing formats and fastenings.....	109
Fitting preparation into the workflow.....	133
Chapter summary	135
Bibliography	136
8 Preparation of damaged documents	137
Introduction.....	137
Is conservation work always needed?	137

Treatment options	141
Documentation	147
Fitting conservation work into the workflow	148
Chapter summary	157
Bibliography	158
9 Setting up the imaging operation.....	159
Introduction.....	159
Working environment	159
Workflow and document tracking	165
Staffing.....	166
Chapter summary	169
Bibliography	169
Conclusion	171
Further reading	173
General guidelines	173
The digital image	174
Equipment for image capture	175
Index	177